GCSE Information For Parents and Pupils

2023/2024

Ian Ramsey CE Academy

Pupil Information

- The night before each exam, make sure you have all necessary equipment ready pen (black ink only), spare pen, pencils, pencil sharpener, eraser, ruler, calculator, protractor etc. Put all of this into a transparent pencil case, a see-through bag or hold together with an elastic band. You are not allowed to take other types of pencil cases into the exam. Tippex or eraser pens are not allowed in ANY exam.
- Once you enter the examination room you may NOT borrow any equipment from another candidate.
- You cannot take your bag into the examination room.
- Unlabelled transparent water bottles are allowed in the exam room.
- Sweets/food are NOT allowed in the examination room.
- Mobile phones, MP3/4 players, ipods, watches, data storage or similar devices should NOT be taken into the examination room.

Remember Possession of unauthorised material is breaking the rules, even if you do not intend to use it, and you will be subject to penalty and possible disqualification.

- Where permitted, a calculator will be provided. Should you choose to bring your own calculator, cases/operating instructions are not to be taken into the examination room. Programmable calculators or electronic data banks/dictionaries are not allowed, you must clear anything stored in your calculator's memory.
- Seating plans will be displayed outside the exam room and inside the main hall before each exam. It is usual practice to meet in the main hall prior to the start of an exam.
- All examinations are conducted in silence. You must be silent on your way into the exam room. You must not open or touch exam papers until instructed to do so, even if they are already placed on your desks. Listen carefully to the invigilator instructions. Do not start writing until you are told to do so. Please ensure you write your candidate number and legal name on your exam paper (this will be on the name card on your desk).
- Any attempts at cheating will be reported to your parents and the Examination Board. You will be asked to provide a written statement along with the invigilators and any members of staff involved. The Examination Board can disqualify you from the subject regardless of any other work you have completed in school. You would therefore not receive a GCSE grade in that subject. Examples of suspected cheating include having a mobile phone/watch on your person (even if it is not turned on), not removing your wrist watch, writing notes on your arms, attempting to talk to other students etc.
 - At the end of each exam please return all borrowed equipment. You must remain silent until outside the exam room.

Who we are and how to contact us

Each awarding body is a separate organisation. Your school or examination centre will be able to confirm to you which awarding body is delivering each qualification you are undertaking and you will receive a statement confirming what qualifications you have been entered for and which awarding body. You will find links to each awarding body's website and information on how to contact them https://www.jcg.org.uk/contact-our-members/ here:

Information about you and from where it is obtained

Each awarding body whose qualifications you enter will need to use a variety of information about you. This includes obvious identification details such as your name, address, date of birth and your school or examination centre. It also includes information about your gender, race and health, where appropriate. This information is provided by you or your parents/guardians and/or by your school or examination centre.

Each awarding body will create certain information about you such as a candidate number, examination results and certificates.

You will find further information about this in the awarding bodies' full Privacy Notice (see links above) or by contacting the awarding body (see above).

What happens to the information about you

The awarding bodies use the information about you to deliver the examinations and assessments which you have entered. This includes making a variety of arrangements for you to sit the examinations or assessments, marking, providing you and your school or centre with results and certificates. The awarding bodies also use some of the information about you for equality monitoring and other statistical analysis.

The awarding bodies may share information about your results with official bodies such as the Department for Education and the examinations regulators (e.g. Ofqual in England) and also relevant local authorities and the Universities and Colleges Admissions Service (UCAS). An awarding body may also use information about you to investigate cheating and other examination malpractice and will share information about malpractice with other awarding bodies.

The awarding bodies take the security of the information about you that they hold seriously.

You will find further, technical information about what the awarding bodies do with information about you, why and the legal basis in the awarding bodies' full Privacy Notice, which can be accessed here (see links on page one) or by contacting the awarding body (see above).

Your rights

The law gives you a number of rights in relation to the information about you that the awarding bodies hold. Those rights are:

- Access you are entitled to ask each awarding body about the information it holds about you.
- Rectification you are entitled to ask each awarding body to correct any errors in the information that it holds about you.
- Erasure in certain circumstances you are entitled to ask each awarding body to erase the information about you that it holds.
- Object to or restrict processing in certain circumstances you are entitled to ask each awarding body to stop using information about you in certain ways.
- Complain you are entitled to complain to the Information Commissioner (the body regulating the use of personal information) about what each awarding body does with information about you.

You will find further information about your rights in relation to information about you in the awarding bodies' full Privacy Notice, which can be accessed here (see links on page one) or by contacting the awarding body (see above).

How long the information about you is held

Each awarding body retains information about you only for as long as it is needed. Some of the information is needed only during the period in which you are undertaking the examination or assessment and is securely destroyed a short while afterwards. Other information about you, such as your name, gender, address, qualification and subjects entered and the results, are held indefinitely and for at least 40 years.

Each awarding body has its own retention policy that sets out what information it retains, how it is retained and for how long. You can find out more about retention policies by contacting each awarding body (see above).

How to find out more about the information about you that the awarding bodies use

To find out more about the information about you that the awarding bodies collect and use, including what happens to that information and why, you can review the awarding bodies' full Privacy Notice, which can be accessed here (see links on page one) or contact the awarding body. You will find links to each awarding body's website and information on how to contact them here: https://www.icg.org.uk/contact-our-members/.

Please note

It is important to note that this notice concerns only how the awarding bodies use information about you (called your "personal data"). Complaints about how an awarding body handles your personal data can be made to the Information Commissioner (www.ico.org.uk). Information about the examinations and assessments themselves, including the rules about assessments, can be found on the JCQ Exams Office pages (www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office). The awarding bodies are regulated by Ofqual (https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofqual) in England; Qualifications Wales (www.qualificationswales.org) in Wales, and the Council for the Curriculum, Examinations and Assessment (http://ccea.org.uk/regulation) in Northern Ireland.

Information for candidates

Non-examination assessments

Effective from 1 September 2023

This document tells you about some things that you must and must not do when you are completing your work.

When you submit your work for marking, the awarding body will normally require you to sign an authentication statement confirming that you have read and followed the regulations.

If there is anything that you do not understand, you must ask your teacher.

Preparing your work — good practice

If you receive help and guidance from someone other than your teacher, you must tell your teacher who will then record the nature of the assistance given to you.

If you worked as part of a group on an assignment, for example undertaking field research, you must each write up your own account of the assignment. Even if the data you have is the same, you must describe in your own words how that data was obtained and you must independently draw your own conclusions from the data.

You must meet the deadlines that your teacher gives you. Remember – your teachers are there to guide you. Although they cannot give you direct assistance, they can help you to sort out any problems before it is too late.

Take care of your work and keep it safe. Do not leave it lying around where your classmates can find it or share it with anyone, including posting it on social media. You must always keep your work secure and confidential whilst you are preparing it; do not share it with your classmates. If it is stored on the computer network, keep your password secure. Collect all copies from the printer and destroy those you do not need.

Do not be tempted to use pre-prepared or generated online solutions and try to pass them off as your own work - this is cheating. Electronic tools used by awarding bodies can detect this sort of copying.

You must not write inappropriate, offensive or obscene material.

Research and using references

In some subjects you will have an opportunity to do some independent research into a topic.

The research you do may involve looking for information in published sources such as textbooks, encyclopedias, journals, TV, radio and on the internet.

You can demonstrate your knowledge and understanding of a subject by using information from sources or generated from sources which may include the internet and AI. Remember though, you must take care how you use this material - you cannot copy it and claim it as your own work.

Using information from published sources (including the internet) as the basis for your assignment is a good way to demonstrate your knowledge and understanding of a subject. You must take care how you use this material though – you cannot copy it and claim it as your own work.

The regulations state that:

'the work which you submit for assessment must be your own';

'you must not copy from someone else or allow another candidate to copy from you'.

When producing a piece of work, if you use the same wording as a published source, you must place quotation marks around the passage and state where it came from. This is called 'referencing'. You must make sure that you give detailed references for everything in your work which is not in your own words. A reference from a printed book or journal should show the name of the author, the year of publication and the page number, for example: Morrison, 2000, p29.

For material taken from the internet, your reference should show the date when the material was downloaded and must show the precise web page, not the search engine used to locate it. This can be copied from the address line. For example: http://news.bbc.co.uk/onthisday/hi/dates/stories/october/28/newsid_2621000/2621915.stm, downloaded 5 February 2024.

Where computer-generated content has been used (such as an Al Chatbot), your reference must show the name of the Al bot used and should show the date the content was generated. For example: ChatGPT 3.5 (https://openai.com/blog/chatgpt/), 25/01/2024. You should retain a copy of the computer-generated content for reference and authentication purposes.

You may be required to include a bibliography at the end of your piece of written work. Your teacher will tell you whether a bibliography is necessary. Where required, your bibliography must list the full details of publications you have used in your research, even where these are not directly referred to, for example: Curran, J. Mass Media and Society (Hodder Arnold, 2005).

If you copy the words, ideas or outputs of others and do not show your sources in references and a bibliography, this will be considered as cheating.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism involves taking someone else's words, thoughts, ideas or outputs and trying to pass them off as your own. It is a form of cheating which is taken very seriously.

Don't think you won't be caught; there are many ways to detect plagiarism.

- Markers can spot changes in the style of writing and use of language.
- Markers are highly experienced subject specialists who are very familiar with work on the topic concerned — they may have read the source you are using, or even marked the work you have copied from!
- Internet search engines and specialised computer software can be used to match phrases or pieces of text with original sources and to detect changes in the grammar and style of writing or punctuation.

Penalties for breaking the regulations

If it is discovered that you have broken the regulations, one of the following penalties will be applied:

- the piece of work will be awarded zero marks;
- you will be disqualified from that component for the examination series in question;
- you will be disqualified from the whole subject for that examination series;
- you will be disqualified from all subjects and barred from entering again for a period of time.

The awarding body will decide which penalty is appropriate.

REMEMBER - IT'S YOUR QUALIFICATION SO IT NEEDS TO BE YOUR OWN WORK

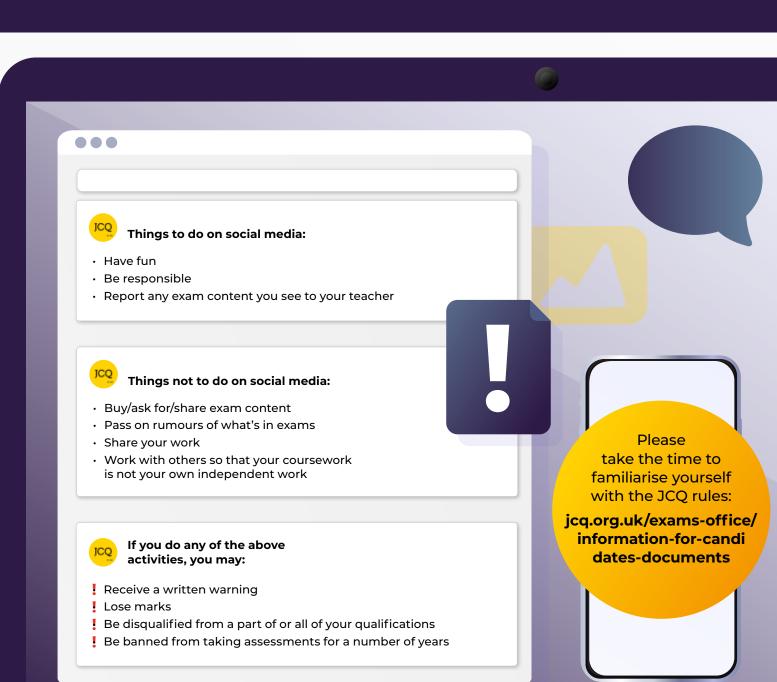

Information for candidates Using social media and examinations/assessments

While we like to share our experiences online, when it comes to exams, we have to be careful.

- Sharing ideas online can be helpful when you're studying or revising
- However, sharing certain information (see information on the right) can break the rules and could affect your results
- If you're not sure what you can and can't discuss online, check with your teacher
- If you receive exam content on social media, you must tell your teacher
- Don't be caught out by scammers selling fake exam papers

Appeals against Internally Assessed Marks (GCSE Controlled Assessment & Non Examination Assessment)

This procedure confirms Ian Ramsey CE Academy's compliance with JCQ's General Regulations for Approved Centres 2022-2023, section 5.7.(f) that the centre has in place "a written internal appeals procedure relating to internal assessment decisions and to ensure that details of this procedure are communicated, made widely available and accessible to all candidates" and that the centre "inform candidates of their centre assessed marks and allow a candidate to request a review of the centre's marking."

Certain components of GCSE qualifications (controlled assessments and non-examination assessments) that contribute to the final grade of the qualification are internally assessed (marked) by the subject teacher. The marks awarded (the internal assessment decisions) are then submitted by the deadline set by the awarding body for external moderation.

lan Ramsey CE Academy is committed to ensuring that whenever its staff mark candidates' work this is done fairly, consistently and in accordance with the awarding body's specification and subject-specific associated documents.

lan Ramsey CE Academy ensures that all centre staff follow a robust Non-examination assessment policy (for the management of GCSE non-examination assessments). This policy details all procedures relating to non-examination assessments, including the marking and quality assurance processes which relevant teaching staff are required to follow.

Candidates' work will be marked by staff who have appropriate knowledge, understanding and skill, and who have been trained in this activity. Ian Ramsey CE Academy is committed to ensuring that work produced by candidates is authenticated in line with the requirements of the awarding body. Where a number of subject teachers are involved in marking candidates' work, internal moderation and standardisation will ensure consistency of marking.

On being informed of their centre assessed marks, if a candidate believes that the above procedures were not followed in relation to the marking of his/her work, or that the assessor has not properly applied the mark scheme to his/her marking, then he/she may make use of this appeals procedure to consider whether to request a review of the centre's marking.

- Ian Ramsey Academy will ensure that candidates are informed of their centre assessed marks so that they may request a review of the centre's marking before marks are submitted to the awarding body.
- 2. Ian Ramsey CE Academy will inform candidates that they may request copies of materials (for example, a copy of their marked work, the relevant specification, the mark scheme and any other associated subject-specific documents) to assist them in considering whether to request a review of the centre's marking of the assessment.

- 3. Ian Ramsey CE Academy will, having received a request for copies of materials, promptly make them available to the candidate within [10 calendar days].
- 4. Ian Ramsey CE Academy will provide candidates with sufficient time in order to allow them to review copies of materials and reach a decision.
- 5. Requests for reviews of marking must be made in writing within [5 calendar days] of receiving copies of the requested materials. Appeals against internally assessed marks must be made in writing addressed to the Examinations Officer.
- 6. Ian Ramsey CE Academy will allow [5 calendar days] for the review to be carried out, to make any necessary changes to marks and to inform the candidate of the outcome, all before the awarding body's deadline.
- 7. Ian Ramsey CE Academy will ensure that the review of marking is carried out by an assessor who has appropriate competence, has had no previous involvement in the assessment of that candidate and has no personal interest in the review.
- 8. Ian Ramsey CE Academy will instruct the reviewer to ensure that the candidate's mark is consistent with the standard set by the centre.
- 9. The candidate will be informed in writing of the outcome of the review of the centre's marking.
- 10. The outcome of the review of the centre's marking will be made known to the Headteacher and will be logged as a complaint. A written record will be kept and made available to the awarding body upon request. Should the review of the centre's marking bring any irregularity in procedures to light, the awarding body will be informed immediately.

After candidates' work has been internally assessed, it is moderated by the awarding body to ensure consistency in marking between centres. The moderation process may lead to mark changes. This process is outside the control of lan Ramsey CE Academy and is not covered by this procedure. Information regarding enquiries about externally awarded marks or grades (Enquiries about Results) is available on Results Day.

Enquiries about Results, Access to Scripts and Appeals

On results day, candidates will receive an individual 'Statement of Result', if the statement is not collected by lunchtime it will be posted home.

Enquiries About Results

A post results review can be initiated by the school or a parent, although the review cannot be processed without written consent from a candidate. A review can be sought when there appears to be reasonable grounds for suspecting there may have been an error in marking, the review will ensure that the agreed mark scheme has been applied correctly. The Examinations Officer, under the guidance of SLT, will investigate the feasibility of processing a review and whether this will be at the expense of the school or the parent. This service is only available for externally assessed components of both unitised and linear specifications. All correspondence must be made through the Examinations Officer, examination boards will only accept review requests from the Examinations Officer.

Access to Scripts

After the release of results, school or individual candidates may request the return of examination scripts in accordance with the Awarding Bodies' deadlines. The Examinations Officer will process all requests, although written permission must be obtained from a candidate prior to a script being requested. Where teaching staff intend to use scripts for teaching and learning purposes or as examples for other pupils, a candidate has the right to anonymity of their script before use.

GCSE Enquiries About Results cannot be applied for once a script has been returned.

Appeals

Appeals can only be submitted after the outcome of an enquiry has been reported to the centre. If the Head of Centre is dissatisfied with the examination result, following the outcome and is convinced that the awarding body has not followed due procedures, it is possible to submit an appeal.

Where an original hard copy script has been returned to a centre as part of an enquiry about results, its security has been compromised and it cannot be subject to an appeal.

Only the Head of Centre can decide whether to proceed and submit an appeal. Internal candidates, their parents or carers are not entitled to appeal directly to the awarding body. Appeals must be submitted to the relevant awarding body within 15 calendar days of the notification of the outcome of the enquiry. Appeals must be made in writing and clearly state the grounds for appeal, specifying which procedures have not been properly and fairly applied. Appeals do not generally involve further reviews of marking candidates' work.

Malpractice is a breach of regulations; this can be categorised as a breach of security, deception, improper assistance to candidates, failure to co-operate with an investigation, maladministration and candidate malpractice.

All allegations of malpractice in relation to examinations and assessments will be investigated. This is to protect the integrity of the qualification, the centre and all candidates.

A candidate will be informed in person of a suspected malpractice allegation and how the investigation will be conducted. Parents will be informed by letter, and if possible, by telephone.

Examination boards require a full investigation, detailing the nature of the suspected malpractice, how it was discovered, by whom and when.

Any candidate found with unauthorised material during an examination, will have the material removed and where possible, will be allowed to continue with the examination. The script will be submitted to the examination board in the usual manner.

In the case of disruptive behaviour, an indication as to whether the behaviour continued after warnings were given, and whether the candidate was removed from the examination room/assessment situation or not.

If plagiarism is suspected and the declaration of authentication has been signed, the case must be reported.

Candidates will have been made aware of examination regulations and expectations in worship prior to an examination period, the GCSE Information Guide for Parents and Pupils and the JCQ Warning to Candidate posters displayed outside each exam room.

Candidates will be given the opportunity to submit a statement, as signed and dated statements are required from all involved. (e.g. candidates, invigilators, assessors, teachers, tutors. etc.).

Supporting evidence submitted to the examination board may include:

- Statement(s) from invigilator(s)
- Statement from teacher/tutor/head of subject/assessor/internal verifier
- Statement from examinations officer
- Statement from candidate
- Seating plan of examination room
- Unauthorised material removed from the candidate
- Copies of sources of plagiarised material
- · Assessment and internal verification or moderation records
- Other

Candidates will receive the outcome of the investigation in writing once the examination board has notified the school. Only the Headteacher can appeal against the outcome.

On your exam day

This checklist will help you to be as prepared as possible for your exams, so that on the day itself you can focus on doing your best.

| Before sitting your exams, ensure you know: the date, time and location of your exams – you might find it helpful to write this information in a calendar or planner who to contact at school or college in case there's an emergency that makes you late or unable to sit your exam | What you cannot take into exams: any type of phone revision notes any type of watch (this includes analogue, digital and smart watches) |
| What you will need: a clear pencil case at least two black ink pens - blue pens are not acceptable an approved calculator for relevant exams appropriate apparatus such as a ruler or protractor for relevant exams a clear water bottle if you wish to take one in - it must not have a label | Other important information: Listen carefully to the invigilator's instructions which will be specific to your exam. If you are unsure of anything, please raise your hand and wait for the invigilator. Fill in your details on the front of your answer booklet. If you need additional answer sheets, raise your hand and wait for an invigilator who will provide you with one. Remember to add your details to this booklet too. If you need to use the toilet or feel unwell, raise your hand and wait for an invigilator who will escort you from the exam room. |
| Contingency sessions: There are contingency sessions within the Summer 2024 exam timetable – the afternoon of 6 June and 13 June 2024 and the morning and afternoon of 26 June 2024. Make sure you are available on all three dates even if you do not have an exam. | Make sure you stay silent – talking to a fellow candidate could result in disqualification from all your exams. If you have any questions about your exams, please ask your teacher or exams officer. |

Coursework assessments

Effective from 1 September 2023

This document tells you about some things that you must and must not do when you are completing coursework.

When you submit any coursework for marking, you will be asked to sign an authentication statement confirming that you have read and followed these regulations.

If there is anything that you do not understand, you must ask your teacher.

In some subjects you will have an opportunity to do some independent research into a topic. The research you do may involve looking for information in published sources such as textbooks, encyclopedias, journals, TV, radio and on the internet.

You can demonstrate your knowledge and understanding of a subject by using information from sources or generated from sources which may include the internet and AI. Remember though, you must take care how you use this material – you cannot copy it and claim it as your own work.

The regulations state that:

'the work which you submit for assessment must be your own';

'you must not copy from someone else or allow another candidate to copy from you'.

If you use the same wording as a published source, you must place quotation marks around the passage and state where it came from. This is called 'referencing'. You must make sure that you give detailed references for everything in your work which is not in your own words. A reference from a printed book or journal should show the name of the author, the year of publication and the page number, for example: (Morrison, 2000, p29).

For material taken from the internet, your reference should show the date when the material was downloaded and must show the precise web page, not the search engine used to locate it. This can be copied from the address line. For example: http://news.bbc.co.uk/onthisday/hi/dates/stories/october/28/newsid_2621000/2621915.stm, downloaded 5 February 2024.

Where computer-generated content has been used (such as an Al Chatbot), your reference must show the name of the Al bot used and should show the date the content was generated. For example: ChatGPT 3.5 (https://openai.com/blog/chatgpt/), 25/01/2024. You should retain a copy of the computer-generated content for reference and authentication purposes.

You may be required to produce a bibliography at the end of your work. This must list the full details of publications you have used in your research, even where these are not directly referred to, for example: Curran, J. Mass Media and Society (Hodder Arnold, 2005).

If you copy the words, ideas or outputs of others and do not show your sources in references and a bibliography, this will be considered as cheating.

Preparing your coursework - good practice

If you receive help and guidance from someone other than your teacher, you must tell your teacher who will then record the nature of the assistance given to you.

Your parent/carer may provide you with access to resource materials and discuss your coursework with you. However, they must not give you direct advice on what should or should not be included.

If you worked as part of a group on an assignment, you must each write up your own account of the assignment. Even if the data you have is the same, the description of how that data was obtained and the conclusions you draw from it should be in your own words.

You must meet the deadlines that your teacher gives you. Remember - your teachers are there to guide you. Although they cannot give you direct assistance, they can help you to sort out any problems before it is too late.

Take care of your work and keep it safe. Don't leave it lying around where your classmates can find it or share it with anyone, including posting it on social media. You must always keep your coursework secure and confidential whilst you are preparing it; do not share it with your classmates. If it is stored on the computer network, keep your password secure. Collect all copies from the printer and destroy those you do not need.

Don't be tempted to use any pre-prepared or generated online solutions and try to pass them off as your own work - this is cheating. Electronic tools used by awarding bodies can detect this sort of copying.

You must not write inappropriate, offensive or obscene material.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism involves taking someone else's words, thoughts, ideas or outputs and trying to pass them off as your own. It is a form of cheating which is taken very seriously.

Don't think you won't be caught; there are many ways to detect plagiarism.

- Markers can spot changes in the style of writing and use of language.
- Markers are highly experienced subject specialists who are very familiar with work on the topic concerned - they may have read the source you are using, or even marked the work you have copied from!
- Internet search engines and specialised computer software can be used to match phrases or pieces of text with original sources and to detect changes in the grammar and style of writing or punctuation.

Penalties for breaking the regulations

If your work is submitted and it is discovered that you have broken the regulations, one of the following penalties will be applied:

- the piece of work will be awarded zero marks;
- you will be disqualified from that unit for that examination series;
- you will be disqualified from the whole subject for that examination series;
- you will be disqualified from all subjects and barred from entering again for a period of time.

The awarding body will decide which penalty is appropriate.
